About

As a first-year B.Tech Computer Science and Engineering student, Im passionate about technology, problem-solving, and software development.

Currently exploring C++ and Java, with a focus on Data Structures and Algorithms (DSA), Im working towards building strong programming fundamentals and practical development skills. Learning through coding practice and hands-on projects is an important part of this journey.

Always curious to explore new technologies, take on challenges, and collaborate with like-minded people, with the long-term goal of becoming a skilled software engineer.

Looking forward to connecting with fellow students, developers, and professionals who share a passion for technology and innovation.
